

All Restorative Meetings
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Are invitational and between two people, no more. - Minimise threat - Are based on empathy, not investigation - Each person gives their perspective - Each person articulates their ideal future (e.g. "Imagine you are king/queen of the world, what happens next?") Nobody can go back in time. - The ideal futures form the basis for a mutual resolution - Traditional sanctions may still have a place but must be part of the resolution.
Restorative Conversations	Restorative Conferences
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Casual and calm - In the 'light of day' - Can happen in the playground, the classroom door etc. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Have a facilitator - Each person spends time preparing - Each person may have a support person. - Take place in a formal context (e.g. meeting room or office)

Summary of Restorative Meeting
This is a...	Restorative Conversation	Restorative Conference
Present at meeting:
Restoration Between	and		Guiding Questions
Summary of Concerns			What happened? What were you thinking at the time? What have you thought about since? What relationships have been damaged? What do you think it was like for the other person? What's been the worst of this?
Ideal Future Solution			What steps are you prepared to take to repair the harm done here? What do you feel you need from the other person to make things right?
Mutual Resolution

